CLIDCO must act now

Dear Editor:

On a recent visit to my hometown of Carbondale, Pa., I made a tour of the D&H property off Dundaff Street. I was very impressed, to say the least. This property has railroad sidings, access roads and approximately 87 acres of prime industrial land. It is 1.2 miles from Dundaff Street to the outlet road in Simpson.

Last night I had a dream. In my dream, the Dundaff Street Viaduct was demolished and replaced by a 4 or 6 lane super roadway, with adequate access roads to the "Pioneer Industrial Park."

In my dream, I saw a huge General Motors Assembly Plant which employs 3,500 people and has a payroll in the millions. Carbondale is now a thriving city with a glorious past and an optimistic future.

Before my dream can become a reality, local politicians and civic-minded citizens must become involved in this project. Also, CLIDCO must act now, today, to attract industry to this prime industrial site. Actions speak louder than words.

According to the editorial in the Carbondale NEWS dated March 10, 1982, CLIDCO has been highly instrumental in the economic growth of Carbondale and the Up-valley region, but their job is not finished yet if Carbondale is to retain an image of a nice place to live and work.

Any comments or opinions on this subject, through this column, would be deeply appreciated.
